Maximum Tax (Refund Cap)

Prior to October 2005, most local sales taxes included a maximum tax provision (now also known as a refund cap). This was a maximum amount of tax that could apply to a single transaction. In October 2005, the caps were replaced with a refund program. Under the refund program, the retailer was required to collect tax on the entire sale without considering the caps.

If the purchaser paid more than the maximum tax amount on a purchase, the purchaser could apply to the Tax Commissioner for a refund of any tax paid in excess of the cap. Beginning July 1, 2007, retailers may voluntarily collect up to the cap amount as a convenience to their customers so the purchasers do not need to apply for a refund. Retailers are not required to calculate caps and may continue to collect tax without regard to the caps. Retailers should be consistent in the method they choose to calculate local taxes.
