Training on brain injury screening is Feb. 18

BISMARCK, N.D. - The North Dakota Brain Injury Network and the North Dakota Department of Human Services' Behavioral Health Division are co-hosting training on brain injury screening on Feb. 18, from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., Central Time.

The training is the second session in a monthly training series for professionals who work with people with brain injuries. Training is held the third Thursday of every month through April 21, 2016, using the state video conferencing system.

Rebecca Quinn of the North Dakota Brain Injury Network at the University of North Dakota's Center for Rural Health said the February session will focus on the importance of screening, and provide an overview of screening instruments. The Department of Human Services will review the traumatic brain injury screening it has used during client intakes at its regional human service centers. There will also be a discussion about the benefits of screening.

Social Work and Licensed Addiction Counselor continuing education units (CEUs) are available along with general certificates for other professional disciplines.

Professionals can sign up for training and view details at https://und.qualtrics.com/jfe/form/SV_6SvWY6TYk1KAVRb.
