Informational meetings for direct care workers to be held in Forman and Wahpeton

BISMARCK, N.D. – The North Dakota Department of Human Services' Medical Services Division will hold informational meetings in Forman and Wahpeton, N.D., for current qualified service providers and anyone interested in being an in-home caregiver for older adults and people with disabilities.

Qualified service providers are friends, neighbors, family members, and others who provide in-home care to older adults and people with disabilities so they can continue to live in their own homes and communities.

Individuals from Ransom, Richland, and Sargent counties are invited to participate in these meetings.

Monday, April 11, 2016

- Wahpeton, 1 to 3 p.m., Richland County Social Service Office, 413 Third Ave. N., Conference Room

Tuesday, April 12, 2016

- Forman, Noon to 2:30 p.m., Sargent County Courthouse, 355 Main St. S., Second Floor Conference Room

Meeting participants will learn how to complete provider enrollment forms and billing documents, and will learn about programs and services available through the department that support independent living. A department representative will also review qualified service provider rates and reimbursement requirements and share information about how to become a qualified service provider, as well as the responsibilities associated with being a caregiver.

There are currently about 100 qualified service providers in Ransom, Richland, and Sargent counties.

“There is always a need for qualified services providers, especially in rural communities,” said Karen Tescher, assistant director of the department’s Long-Term Care Continuum services.

To learn more about being a qualified services provider, go to www.CaringJobs.ND.gov. This website features information about job duties, pay and benefits, frequently asked questions, as well as a video highlighting the experiences of people working as qualified service providers.
