

HELP US STRETCH YOUR DOLLARS!
JOIN the NASASP Associate Membership Program
The Federal Surplus Property Program needs your help and your voice. Read on to see how your organization can help.

If you know about and believe in the benefits of using the North Dakota Federal Property Agency, you should also know about the National Association of State Agencies for Surplus Property.

The National Association for State Agency for Surplus Property (NASASP) is an organization made up of the State Agencies for Surplus Property (SASP's) in each of the 50 states plus 6 US territories. NASASP is constantly monitoring developments and trends in the US General Services Administration, at the Defense Department, and on Capitol Hill. They are seeking out new areas in the world where federal surplus property is being disposed of and discovering economical ways to return that property to the states to further benefit the taxpayers. NASASP also serves as a vehicle to foster communication between the State Agencies for Surplus Property to accomplish more and strengthen the Surplus Property Program in each state.

The Federal Surplus Property Program is facing a decline of available excess federal property across our nation. North Dakota's Federal Surplus Program is being offered fewer supplies, tools, furniture, shop equipment, generators, and off road equipment...fewer health and medical equipment. That means your organization will be paying more for those items, or helping fewer people.

If you believe in the value of our program, if you've enjoyed paying less for useable equipment and supplies...if you believe in the value of surplus property to the citizens of your community, our state, and indeed to the taxpayers of North Dakota and the United States, then Associate Membership in the NASASP is a great deal for you!

We need your help to get our State to the head of the line so that we can get more property to the people who need it most in our area! We need your support! By joining forces with states and people across the nation... people just like you... we can become one voice to let those in Washington know how much we need this property. We must join together and tell them how federal surplus property is saving taxpayer dollars right here in North Dakota. That is what NASASP wants to do for your organization.
